The Whitman High School Yearbook

Class Motto—"Knowledge is the making of man"

Class Flower—American Beauty Rose

Class Colors – Royal Blue and Silver

FOREWORD

IN ORDER that in the days of hardships and toil that confront us, for the times when we feel downcast and discouraged, in the future years when our ideals shall have been attained, and for any time we feel inclined to reminisce, we might open this yearbook filled with the accounts of our days at School, the happy, carefree days of our youth—for this purpose, we, the Yearbook Staff, have tried to make it a true copy of our four years at Whitman High.

Student Council

Late in September the Student Council opened its most successful year since the beginning of the organization.

The following officers were chosen under the able supervision of the advisers, Miss Kenealy and Mr. Albrecht:

Gerald Burbine.....President
Ann Baker .....Vice-President
Mary Renshaw .....Secretary
Alan Hamel .....Treasurer
Mary White, Francis O'Rourke
Executive Committee

During the year the council repaired the bicycle racks, and conducted two most successful drives, the Red Cross Drive and the Infantile Paralysis Drive. The sale of defense stamps has been very prosperous; it is estimated that the total sale will have reached $1,000 by June.

Waste paper is being collected and sold, and the money received will go for the purchase of defense bonds. When the bonds shall have matured, the money will be used for student activities.

The Student Council has complete charge of the monitor system.

An Extra-Curricular Activities committee was selected—Josephine Burns, Beverly Blanchard, Stergios Milonas—to investigate the students' activities. This has proved very successful.

A song contest for a school song was held, and many songs were entered. The winner will be selected before the end of this year.

Class Ode

By Adelaide Tirrell and Roy Littlehale

Tune: "Danny Boy"

1

Our happy days at Whitman High are ending now.
We've waited long; we've worked; we've planned; we've dreamed—
Of this our day as graduation's sending us
Out in the world to make ourselves esteemed.

Chorus:

And so we bid our Alma Mater fond farewell,
And to our teachers dear we'll say goodby.
And though the years be long and hardships with us dwell,
We won't forget our days at Whitman High.

2

Our joys at school, our friends and pals, we're leaving now;
In future years we won't forget this day.
At least we've reached the goal we've all been striving for—
And now each one must go his separate way.

Chorus.

3

In years to come we'll work for all our great ideals;
For courage, vision are the things we need.
We'll make our teachers, friends, and parents proud of us—
And show them all we can and will succeed.

Chorus.

Yearbook Advisers

To our yearbook advisers, Miss Smalley and Mr. Bayley, we give our sincere thanks for their kindly, efficient counsel and assistance in the preparation of our yearbook.

CLASS HISTORY

By Priscilla Little and Janice Monroe

On September 7, 1938, we entered high school with the air of grown-up self-assurance, but when we gazed upon the sophisticated seniors, we decided we were still mere babies.

Our career as a class did not start until the next year, so not much to be remembered occurred. The boys joined Glee Club and the scrub football and baseball teams, while the girls went out for gym work. Many of the class became frequent visitors to Room 116. Our class has always been known for its prowess in arriving on time.

After a ten weeks' vacation, we resumed work as Sophomores on September 6, 1939. Shortly after the beginning of school, the Class of '42 assembled for our first election of officers. At this time, Robert Donahue was chosen President; Josephine Burns, Vice-President; Evelyn Corliss, Secretary; and Joseph Burns, Treasurer. Miss Reynolds and Mr. Goodell were appointed advisers.

A long-to-be-remembered event was the Sophomore Hop on January 12, the first dance of the class. The decorations were winter scenes with snowmen, skaters, and skiiers all about the gymnasium.

March 15 found us in the gym, watching some of our class members performing with great skill their various feats on the horizontal bars, horse, etc. Members of our class participated in the exhibition held each year.

June 21 came quickly, and we again enjoyed a ten weeks' leave.

On September 9, 1940, the Class of '42 returned to Whitman High. This time, as upper-classmen, we were looking forward to a busy year.

Our second class election was held, keeping Robert Donahue as President, and electing Eleanor Bearce, Jean Harper, and Chester Mann as Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer, respectively. Mr. Goodell and Miss Reynolds continued as our advisers.

Our Junior Dance was held November 22, with the gymnasium decorated in nautical fashion with a ship's wheel and Navy flags of all kinds.

On March 25 we had the privilege of listening to a program given by the W. P. A. Band of Brockton. It was both entertaining and educational, and we hoped that they could come again.

We held our Junior Prom, the leading social event of the year, on May 16, 1941. The decorations and refreshments were in keeping with the name—Stardust—and roses were given as favors to every guest. The affair was a success in every way.

At the beginning of the spring vacation during April, Mr. Goodell left to join the Navy. We were very sorry to see him leave, but were also proud of his being the first faculty member to join the service. For the rest of the year, we were extremely grateful to Mr. Des Landes for all the help he gave us until our new adviser, Mr. Magnuson, was appointed.

On June 20 we were again looking forward to several weeks of vacation before we began our last year of school.

On September 3, 1941, we once again started our old life. Immediately, we settled down to business and elected a new set of officers, who were—President, Nelson LeGallee; Vice-President, Mary Renshaw; Secretary, Gertrude Croke; and Treasurer, Robert Harrington.

The first dance of the current year was our Travel Dance of October 17, which started the social activities off in the right spirit.

In December, we gave the Football Banquet for the squad. Everyone enjoyed himself immensely, and went home well-fed.

The next hit was scored by the "Mad Hatters," held on December 12, which showed the talents of some of our class members. Perhaps we shall see some of them on the stage in the future.

For the last dance we were to sponsor, we picked a very appropriate date in February, Friday the 13th, and held the Senior Soopa Spooka. Even the most superstitious persons were seen having a good time that evening.

We, being a patriotic class, decided to give up something that was unnecessary, as every citizen is doing at this crucial time. At a meeting of the class, we voted to leave from our program the class banquet, which is usually held on class day. Also, we patriotic seniors have been doing our share in buying defense stamps, and have led the school in the collecting of waste paper.

Our school days, the happiest time in our life, will end with graduation, on Friday evening, June 12.

The event which will really close our high school career is the gala reception to be held on June 15, the Monday evening following graduation.

CLASS PROPHECY

By Jane Holbrook and Gertrude Croke

GERTRUDE: "Why, Jane Holbrook, of all people! I haven't seen you since we graduated from High School ten years ago."

JANE: "Gertrude Croke! It's good to see you again. What are you doing now?"

GERTRUDE: "Oh, I'm working at the David King Laboratories. Nancy Altman is also working there as assistant to David in the synthetic rubber section. They are making quite a fortune for themselves. Where are you working?"

JANE: "I'm working for the Robert Goodwin Electrical Supplies Co. I have charge of all correspondence for the incoming orders, and Ruth Borges has charge of all outgoing work. Bookkeeper Gladys Peterson published the report for the annual fiscal period, and I find that the company is in very good financial condition. By the way, have you seen any of the rest of the class since we graduated?"

GERTRUDE: "Now that this war is over we'll probably have time to renew our old friendships. Wasn't it wonderful the way Chester Hatchfield out-did Douglas MacArthur and became the outstanding general of World War No. 2?"

JANE: "That was quite an honor, but I read in a paper the other day that Raymond Ball has been made an admiral in the U. S. Navy because of his extraordinary record as a seaman. I also heard that Arlene Flavell has joined her husband in the Army, and Lillian Packard is soon leaving on a secret voyage with her sailor husband."

GERTRUDE: "Really! Well, Jane, as I was riding to the station today, I saw an accident which involved some of our classmates. It seems that David Ibbitson, President of the Progressive Vegetable Growers of Massachusetts, and his wife Ethel—you remember Ethel Glenn—were hurrying to get to his office to confer with Gerald Reed, Vice-President of the same organization, concerning the expected rise in the prices of cauliflower and spinach. As he swerved around the corner, he collided with a taxi driven by Paul Howland, who was, as usual, coming down a one-way street the wrong way. No one was hurt, fortunately, but Police Chief Richard Brine, who was arguing with his wife, the former Martha Davis, as to whether she should have steak or pork chops for dinner, came over to settle the affair, ably assisted by Patrolmen Robert Donahue, Charles Higgins, and Harry Morgan. Look, Jane, what does that billboard say?"

JANE: "I think it says—yes, it does—'Welcome to the grand opening of the Skate-land—Dance-land. Combination skating rink and dance hall. Open nightly under the competent management of Thelma Marceau and Pauline Churchill. Music furnished by that well-known star of stage and screen, Charles Donoghue and his Basin Street Boys.' Now isn't that surprising?"

GERTRUDE: "Charles certainly has been very successful, and one reason for his great success is his drummer, Ernest Smith. Hep Cats all over the world claim Smith is the best drummer since Gene Krupa retired from the orchestra world."

JANE: "Well, all of the news about our classmates isn't good news. Yesterday I visited Francis Chiros, who was injured in the recent world series between the Whitman Indians and the Abington Dodgers. It seems that, as outfielder Bob Ibbitson, who has recently turned traitor and joined the Abington Dodgers, slid into third base, he kicked dust into Chiros' eyes, thus preventing him from seeing the ball. The ball struck Francis on the head and stunned him. This injury caused him to withdraw from the game. He was assisted from the field by outfielder Robert Harrington, who had gradually worked himself from bat boy to regular left fielder. An ambulance was immediately summoned from the Sweeney General Hospital by John Zoobkoff, manager of the Indians. When the ambulance arrived, John Ferry, the driver, assisted the orderlies, Thomas Casserly and John Hunt, in placing the delirious Chiros in the ambulance. Head Surgeon William Sweeney's secretary, Jean Harper, took the particulars of the case and then had Chiros in a private room. Emily Brittain, Marie Croghan, and Phyllis Hall as day nurses, and Ruth Johnson and Gertrude Daly as night nurses, are taking the best possible care of Chiros. At present he is resting comfortably."

GERTRUDE: "I'm glad that he is feeling better. By the way, have you seen the new movie, 'The Sheik Returns,' starring Robert Brennan, who plays opposite Rosalie Kirby, the Bette Davis of 1952? It is now currently showing at the Victory Theatre, owned and successfully operated by Joe Burns. The picture was produced by the Henry McGuane Studios, and was directed by Martin Tufankjian, who is noted for his fast-moving and thrill-packed adventure pictures."

JANE: "I guess that I shall have to see that picture. Speaking of pictures, when I turned on my television set today, I heard News Commentator

Beatrice Barry, 'Winchell for short,' flash out the scoop that scientist Gerald Burbine has revolutionized the vitamin theory by discovering a new vitamin, S, which as far as experts Nelson Le Gallee, Roy Littlehale, and Arnold Seamans can discover, is a combination of all known vitamins."

GERTRUDE: "I always knew Jake would end up inventing something. The other day I went into the Modern Gown Shoppe, and was I surprised to find that it is owned by Doris Woods! Models Evelyn Corliss and Eleanor Bearce helped me select my dress, which was designed by Eunice Drake, nationally known dress creator. I paid my bill to Alice Edmonds, who is the business manager for the organization."

JANE: "I've heard about that successful Gown Shoppe, but one of our other classmates isn't having such good luck. Did you read about that fire in Chicago last week? It's the biggest thing of its kind since Mrs. Murphy's cow destroyed half the city. Louise MacLaughlin Hayes' beautiful 16 room estate was completely ruined by flames. Fire Chief Albert Wirzburger and his assistant firefighters, three of whom are classmates of ours, Richard King, Chester Mann, and Verne Porter, did their best to save the Hayes' home, but their efforts were fruitless. Chief Wirzburger proved himself a hero by risking his life to save Aviatrix Marie La Frenière who had flown down to spend the week-end at Louise's home. Congressman Robert Crosby later presented Wirzburger with a medal from the citizens of Chicago for his brave act."

GERTRUDE: "Talk about fame! The other day I met Edith Sayce, noted soprano, who invited me to attend her next week's concert at the Music Hall in Radio City. She told me that she would have her manager, Adelaide Tirrell, send me a ticket—but at present she said that Adelaide was on a ticket selling campaign, and wouldn't be in New York until early next week."

JANE: "I dropped into Mary Carey's Tea shop the other afternoon. When I finished my tea, the leaves were read by Madame Dorothy Morgan, noted mystic and reader of palms. The entertainment was furnished by contralto Jean Lincoln and violinist Martha Schatzl. As I glanced around the room, I saw Patricia Devine, author of the book of poems, 'Silent Reveries,' and her secretary, Janice Monroe, just leaving."

GERTRUDE: "I haven't been there as yet, but I hope to be able to go soon. The other afternoon I had an appointment at Norma Bradshaw's Twentieth Century Beauty Salon. Receptionist Helen McGrail directed me to the gym where I noticed Marion Jones putting her customers through their exercises, while at the farther end of the gym, Mary Hogg was giving a lecture on good grooming to a group of high school students. Upstairs, hairdressers Rhoda Freeman and Norma Nickerson and manicurist Gladys Cabral were busily attending to their duties. Norma told me she had received a letter from Delma Stoddar, who is now in charge of the office at the Commonwealth Shoe Factory, saying that Alice Taylor was proclaimed 'Nation's No. 1 Talker.' In a recent contest, Judge Elizabeth McCarthy said that Alice broke all known records by saying 1,000 words in a minute. Delma told Norma to listen in next Tuesday evening to station SAP at 8:00; Alice is going to be interviewed by June Gegenheimer, hostess of the 'We the Public,' sponsored by the Jack Clifford Chain Stores, successors to First National Stores, Inc. I think that Helen Walo, head of all Girl Scouting in America, is also going to appear on that program."

JANE: "I guess that I shall have to listen in. Speaking of programs, have you heard how June Ladouceur has changed the program of the whole engineering system by discovering a noiseless explosive for use in blasting? She discovered it one afternoon by mixing half a pound of sodium, potassium, and calcium in a gallon of water. Not a sound was heard, but when her assistant, Hugh Cox, returned to the room, he found the laboratory in complete ruins. The solution apparently did not explode immediately, because June had left the room with her secretary, Taimi Maki, to attend a conference at the Chemistry Building with bacteriologists Adela Rymut and Eleanor Seeger."

GERTRUDE: "June certainly had a narrow escape, didn't she! Here's another bit of surprising news. Rita Murray, who has decided that she wants a career instead of a husband, announced the opening of her Little Theatre Group in New York City. She has selected Elena Gentile as her leading actress. Next week the group is going to put on that well-known Shakespearean play, 'Hamlet,' with Harry Nickerson playing the leading role."

JANE: "I think that Harry will make an excellent Hamlet. Oh, I knew that I had something to tell you! Recently, I visited Whitman High School, where I found Mary Renshaw in charge of the Commercial Department, ably assisted by Grace Kenneally and Priscilla Little. At the same time, I met Phyllis Benson, who is the school nurse. Whitman High School has become so enlarged that two additional secretaries are required in the office, and these positions are filled by Kathleen Treptow and Shirley Danner. Marie Paul has taken Mr. McKey's place, and has increased the percentage of pupils taking biology. I heard strains of music coming from the gym, and when I went down to see what it was all about, I found Gym Instructor Priscilla Thomas putting her pupils through all the phases of the modern dance. I had a chat with Priscilla, and she told me that Josephine Burns had been appointed as cooking teacher, but after two days of teaching she resigned to be married. Marion Boose is now head of the cooking department."

GERTRUDE: "Well—it's been swell seeing you again. Let's get together again and talk over old times. Why don't you come over to my home tomorrow evening and we'll see if we can find any more gossip."

JANE: "That's really a good idea. I'll see you tomorrow night at eight then. Good-bye."

GERTRUDE: "Good-bye."

CLASS WILL

By Alice Edmonds and Eleanor Seeger

We, the testators of the class of 1942, being of sound mind and body, do hereby ordain and establish this to be our last will and testament.

From the vast store of attributes and properties which we have collected during our four years together in high school, we leave the following to the members of our class and all its friends.

To Mr. Bayley, our principal, for his untiring help throughout our four years; to Mr. Lane, our vice-principal, for his guidance and aid; to our class advisers, Miss Reynolds and Mr. Magnuson; to our honor part advisers and to the faculty, we leave our deepest thanks.

To the individual members of the class we leave as follows:

To Harry Morgan, in exchange for his gold fillings, one of Uncle Sam's defense bonds.

To Adelaide Tirrell, a package of footease to put spring in her step.

To Nelson Le Gallee, a bottle of slickum (very thick) to keep his fiery red hair in place.

To Eunice Drake, a trailer—"California or bust!"

To David King, a clothes brush to keep that "neat as a pin" look.

To June Gegenheimer, a bottle of ointment to soothe the blisters she must get from practicing with her baton.

To Ernest Smith, Bill Sweeney, and Mary Renshaw, a bundle of slips with Miss Allen's permission. This is just a remembrance of the good times in the corridors.

To Chet Mann, an electric fan to keep him cool in class. He always seems to be smothered in two or three sweaters and a jacket.

To Jean Harper, a sugar bowl in which to keep her sweetness.

To Dick Brine, a diamond, either a baseball diamond or one to encircle pretty Martha's finger.

To Lillian Packard, an anchor to hold down her heart for fear it should float away with her sailor.

To Arnold Seamans, a carton of ironized yeast to build up his resistance when speaking to a group of people.

To Shirley Danner, compliments on her delightful western talk.

To Paul Howland, one of his hidden desires, either a beep, peep, or a jeep. He seems to know a lot about them.

To Eleanor Bearce, a little black book in which to keep the telephone numbers and addresses of her many admirers.

To Martin Tufankjian, a new car so that he won't have to spend more money on parts for his old jalopy.

To June Ladouceur, a free course in elocution to further her talent.

To Albert Wirzburger, the ambition and courage to write a book on his knowledge of baseball.

To Nancy Altman and "Babe" Barry, we leave the keys to the building. Nancy may want to come back to see Mr. Des Landes, while "Babe" may need to confer with Miss Wood.

To David Ibbitson, the largest size lunch box to hold the great spread he always has before him at recess.

To Ruth Johnson, a rose to emphasize her likeness to the old saying, "blushing as a rose."

To Gerald Burbine, a laboratory manual so that he can concoct a new discovery for the army.

To Martha Schatzl, some extra violin strings when she plays the "Bee."

To Verne Porter, a hammock to give him an extra nap.

To Adela Rymut, a flunk slip to show her what one looks like.

To Robert Donahue, a Big Ben alarm clock to rouse him out of bed in the morning.

To Helen Walo, a bottle of sunshine.

To Raymond Ball, a dogsled to hitch up his huskies for defense.

To Rosalie Kirby, a silencer to conquer her outbursts.

To Frankie Chiros, a package of chocolate cigarettes to conform to his brother's orders.

To Doris Woods, a book on "How to Feud Like a Lady," with Roy as her sparring partner.

To Joe Burns, an A plus for his fine posture.

To Phyllis Benson, a Hallowe'en noisemaker to show us that she isn't as quiet as we think.

To Charles Donoghue, a book of school regulations to set him straight on a few points.

To Louise McLaughlin, a gun to track down her "Gunner."

To John Hunt, a magnet to attract girls since he can't any other way.

To Taimi Maki, a Dagwood to completely fulfill the title of "Blondie."

To Robert Brennan, a box of cough drops to help him clear his throat before recitation.

To Pauline Churchill, a pair of dancing shoes that will never wear out.

To Henry McGuane, an account book as a nucleus for the McGuane Loan Company.

To Marion Jones, best wishes on her secretarial career. "Tiny" will fit in any boss' lap.

To Thomas Casserly, a pair of scissors to keep his hair as it is.

To Mary Carey, some cement to mend the trail of broken hearts she has left behind during her years in Whitman High.

To John Ferry, a big red barrett to keep his hair out of his eyes.

To Rita Murray, a picture of that "young" man who's going in the army.

To Hugh Cox, a chisel to pave his way in any walk of life.

To Alice Taylor, a stopwatch to regulate her giggles.

To Roy Littlehale, engineer-to-be, a sack of growing feed to take at regular intervals.

To Jean Lincoln (we know she's a good sport) a bottle of Welch's grape juice to help her keep her girlish figure.

To Gerald Reed, a pickup truck to follow in his father's footsteps.

To Gladys Peterson, a package of curlers, while they are still available.

To Bob Harrington, a book of receipts to remind him that "Honesty is the Best Policy."

To Marie Paul, Gert Daley, and Edith Sayce, a can of 3 in 1 oil to keep their machine of friendships running smoothly.

To Chet Hatchfield, a box of white powder to cover his blushing countenance.

To Jane Holbrook, the girl with the pleasant personality, a tiny piano to carry around with her.

To Dick King, some film to take pictures at his leisure.

To Arlene Flavell, a deluxe pair of ice skates.

To Harry Nickerson, a flaming red shirt to satisfy his desire for loud clothes.

To Janice Monroe, we leave a fruit farm in upper New York. That is the correct location, isn't it?

To Charlie Higgins, a "toy burner" to take the place of the one he lost and to help in the nation's defense.

To Phyllis Hall, free driving lessons from an expert.

To "Goody" Goodwin, we leave a new hockey puck to chase about when he isn't chasing the girls.

To Gertrude Croke, a huge autographed photograph of Ted Williams to gaze upon.

To Norma Bradshaw, a cookbook so that her first biscuits won't sink a battleship; on the other hand, they might prove useful to Uncle Sam.

To Josephine Burns, a brief case to take care of her student council papers which were always scattered about.

To shy Johnny Clifford, the ability to look 'em in the eye and knock 'em down.

To Mary Hogg and Evelyn Corliss, a wardrobe in which to keep their splendid array of clothes.

To Bob Crosby, a crate full of laboratory bottles, beakers, and test tubes to break to his heart's content.

To Marie Croghan, a make-up kit to keep up her appearance.

To Norma Nickerson, the title of "Little Lady."

To Alice Edmonds, a horse and buggy to get to Weymouth in case of a gasoline shortage.

To Emily Brittain, a canary to keep her disposition cheery.

To Gladys Cabral, compliments on her lovely penmanship.

To Rhoda Freeman, another military pin to add to her collection.

To both Marie La Frenière and Dot Morgan, a box in which to put all their chatter. Marie could use a nurse's cap too.

To Grace Kenneally, a special maid to answer the numerous calls from her male friends.

To John Zoobkoff, a noisemaker so he can be as noisy among his class mates as he is on his farm.

To Eleanor Seeger, a strong fence that's high enough to "get her goats" and keep them out of trouble.

To Ethel Glenn, straps to keep her in her seat when she goes riding with David.

To Thelma Marceau, a private rink so that she may skate whenever she pleases.

To Priscilla Thomas, a basketball net so she can practice her long shots.

To Patricia Devine, the title of "Poetess Laureate" of the class of 1942. We hear she can write poetry with simply a twist of the wrist.

To Elena Gentile, a bottle of wave set to keep her pretty hair in its usual neat order.

To Kathleen Treptow, the honor of being the class's "Skirt and Sweater Girl" of 1942.

To Helen McGrail, a hammock to put on the front porch when Henry can't get any gas.

To Elizabeth McCarthy, boots and saddles to accustom her to western life and to let her actually live the life of her favorite cowboys.

To Priscilla Little, a bottle of nail polish to keep her nails as immaculate as they always are.

To Robert Ibbitson, a little more speed so that he won't exasperate Mary so much in "Chem Lab."

To Ruth Borges, compliments on her fine work in shorthand.

To Marion Boose, a sewing kit to help her in her fine needlework.

To Delma Stoddar, a string to tie on Bill's finger so he won't forget her while he's serving Uncle Sam.

We, the Class of 1942, having arrived safely at the end of our four years' journey, do hereby appoint the Junior Class as executors of this, our last will and testament. We trust that in carrying out the above provisions they may benefit from and profit by our experiences. In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hand and seal this sixth day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-two.

Signed, sealed, and declared by us, the testators of the Class of 1942, to be our last Will and Testament, in the presence of these three and in each other's presence, who have hereunto subscribed their names as witnesses:

"The Couple in the Castle" on the
"White Cliffs of Dover" with
"Little Sir Echo."

To aid in holding boy friends,
We give this stationery here;
That for lack of news from Nancy,
The lads need never fear.

RAYMOND BALL — Sea-sick Pills
'Cause Ray is in the Navy, we give sea-sick pills,
We hope they'll carry him through and cure his ills.

BEATRICE BARRY — Small Piece of Wood
English teachers Babe doth adore,
She trails two on the second floor.

ELEANOR BEARCE — Box of Dates
To Lefty we give this box of dates
And hope they come in handy.
In case the boys all go away,
We're sure they'll prove just dandy.

PHYLLIS BENSON — Notebook
We give this notebook to speed you on your way,
We know in the office you'll be busy all the day.

MARION BOOSE — Skeleton
Marion's so quiet, meek and shy,
We hope this gift won't make her cry.

RUTH BORGES — Stilts
Because Ruth is so very small
We give these stilts to make her tall.

NORMA BRADSHAW — Liniment
Norma plays basketball just for fun,
But when she takes a tumble
She can use this liniment by the ton
And have no cause to grumble.

ROBERT BRENNAN — String of Dolls
Keep this stag line by your side
In winter, fall and spring.
In case of drafting of the girls,
They'll prove to be the thing.

RICHARD BRINE — "Sports" Magazine
This little magazine called "Sports"
We give to Dick our captain,
To study up on all the plays,
And help him win what'ere might happen.

EMILY BRITTAIN — Camera
We hope this little camera will help you some time,
In taking famous photos of every different kind.

GERALD BURBINE — Baker's Chocolate
In case you have to walk to Hanson
Because you lose your car,
Try this sweetened Baker's chocolate
To keep your strength at par.

JOSEPH BURNS — Note
By jumping the bell Joe gets Miss Tinker's goat,
So from her we have this little note.
When you look, it will be seen
It's just a pass to 116.

JOSEPHINE BURNS — Crown
Josie doesn't need this crown to show how popular she is,
No matter where our Josie goes, she's sure to be a whiz.

GLADYS CABRAL — Pen
Palmer and Gladys go hand in hand,
This pen we give her—she'll understand.

MARY CAREY — Dime
Mary, Mary, quite contrary, nothing pleases you
Of buying a gift you have us weary,
So here's a dime, see what you can do.

THOMAS CASSERLY — Attendance Slips
Tom collects attendance slips,
May these save him many trips.

FRANCIS CHIROS — Needle and Thread
At the gym meet was Gip's face red
If it happens again, here's needle and thread.

PAULINE CHURCHILL — Jitterbug
Jitterbugging's an art few of us attain,
So Pauline here's a jitterbug, a tribute to your fame.

JOHN CLIFFORD — Bobby Pins
Johnny's hair never stays in place.
May these bobby pins keep it from his face.

EVELYN CORLISS — Football pass
This football pass to Evie we give
It may sound very tame,
But Burton will want her to be there
When he leads the team to fame.

HUGH COX — Tiny Pliers
Hugh's secret ambition is to become a dentist,
So we give these tiny pliers to use on his patients.

MARIE CROGHAN — Make-up Kit
To Marie we give this make-up kit,
We hope with it she'll make a hit.

GERTRUDE CROKE — Scissors
Gert should be a lady barber
With her knack of cutting hair.
So we hope these little scissors
Will help her to prepare.

ROBERT CROSBY — Picture of the Sun
A picture of the sun to cast on you its hue,
For when you blush we will not know
If it's the reflection or you.

GERTRUDE DALEY — Picture Frame
Freddie is the young man's name,
Who'll take his place within this frame.

SHIRLEY DANNER — Football Hero
Shirley loves the game of football
Especially in the form of Tero.
We hope this tiny picture
Will remind her of her hero.

MARTHA DAVIS — A "Dickie"
Since Marty's clothes are neat and tricky,
We give to her this little "Dickie."

PATRICIA DEVINE — Book of poems
Patricia's thoughts with poems surge,
This book should stimulate the urge.

ROBERT DONAHUE — Tardy Slip
A diller, a dollar, an eight o'clock scholar
What made you come so fast?
You used to come at quarter of eight
And now it's quarter past.

CHARLES DONOGHUE — Piano
Tinkle, tinkle on the keys, play us out a tune.
This piano we bequeath
To cheer us night and noon.

EUNICE DRAKE — Sail Boat
Sailing, sailing, over the bounding main,
This will help you pass the time
Til your sailor comes home again.

ALICE EDMONDS — Horse
This little horse can take the jumps,
And a fall from him would cause no bumps.

JOHN FERRY — Reflector
Night and day, day and night,
This will reflect your shining light.

ARLENE FLAVELL — Cookbook
This cookbook we hope will illustrate con carni
So that you can make it
When Bernie gets out of the army.

RHODA FREEMAN — Megaphone
Rhoda's cheers come loud and clear
This megaphone is so we all may hear.

JUNE GEGENHEIMER — Blue Ribbon
We award this blue ribbon to June whom we rate
As the best drum major in this whole state.

ELENA GENTILE — Pattern
Since Elena's sewing is so dandy
We know this pattern will come in handy.

ETHEL GLENN — Car
Ethel's car keeps breaking down
When 8 o'clock rolls around
But we know this little car
Will prove a lot more sound.

ROBERT GOODWIN — Alarm Clock
Sleepy head, get out of bed
The clock is striking eight
Why can't you ever be on time?
Why must you be so late?

PHYLLIS HALL — Nurse's Cap
For Phyllis here's a nurse's cap
To start her on her way,
We're sure she'll be a great success
And perhaps superintendent some day.

JEAN HARPER — Cube of Sugar
Sugar's at a premium, we all know it's true
But we can spare this little cube
To show what we think of you.

ROBERT HARRINGTON — Bow and Arrow
With this bow and arrow, Bob,
We think that you will catch
A great many more admirers
To add to your present batch.

CHESTER HATCHFIELD — Dye
If Chet should tire of his hair so red
We give him this dye to make it black instead.

CHARLES HIGGINS — Horse
My kingdom for a horse
Was Shakespeare's famous phrase
Charlie's just like Shakespeare
Horses are his craze.

MARY HOGG — "Vogue" Magazine
So that Mary won't miss the styles next year
We give her this book
So that she will have them near.

JANE HOLBROOK — Adhesive Tape
In every class Jane loves to chatter
Adhesive tape would help this matter.

PAUL HOWLAND — Toothpaste
Paul's smile is always so bright
May this keep it so from morn 'till night.

JOHN HUNT — Convertible
Here's a racing number that will fit you to a T
If it weren't for tires and gasoline
Oh, how happy you might be.

DAVID IBBITSON — Bottle of Ethyl
Since gas is on the rationed list,
As all of you must know,
We could only get a little Ethyl
The gas with lots of get up and go.

ROBERT IBBITSON — Ice Boat
Here's an ice boat so very trim,
On winter days o'er the ice you can skim.

RUTH JOHNSON — Work Sheet
Ruth's always doing bookkeeping
Wherever she may be
This worksheet is just the thing
She some day soon may need.

MARION JONES — Baby Doll
Jonesie takes care of babies at night
We know with this "baby" she will delight.

GRACE KENNEALLY — Basketball
In athletic contests Grace is a star
This basketball will help her go far.

FRANCIS KILGREW — Firecracker
We give this firecracker to you
Because you are so slow
We use it as a last resort
To see if you can go.

DAVID KING — Airplane
Dave's one ambition is to be a flying ace
May this little plane help to start his pace.

RICHARD KING — Electric Light Bulb
We know you want to be an electrician,
This will give light to your ambition.

ROSALIE KIRBY — Runless Stockings
Ladders and runs mean just one thing—
A run in Rosalie's stockings.
We have invested in a brand new pair
That are even good when walking.

JUNE LADOUCEUR — Test Tube
We can't give radios, and roses are nil
So we give her this test tube
And leave the rest to Hill.

MARIE LAFRENIERE — Ice Cream Cone
We hope the war won't ration cones
But just in case they do
We want you to be well supplied
So we give this cone to you.

NELSON LEGALLEE — Fishing Pole
Nelson likes to fish in the sun
With this pole may he have lots of fun

JEAN LINCOLN — Pitchpipe
This pitchpipe we give you
And we'll have you know
It will keep you in tune wherever you go.

PRISCILLA LITTLE — Song
We give to Priscilla her theme song
"I'm Just Wild About Harry,"
May she not have to wait too long,

ROY LITTLEHALE — Dictionary
In this book are many words,
Arranged from A. to Z.
If ever with a word you're stuck, open it and see.

TAIMI MAKI — Blondex
Since Taimi's hair is so very light,
We hope this gift will keep it bright.

CHESTER MANN — Gun
Hitler likes the Germans
The Germans like the Japs
And to you we'll give this gun
To get some Japs, perhaps.

THELMA MARCEAU — Skates
With these shiny roller skates
Our Thelma will have no strife
For we know that she will use them
To glide merrily through her life.

ELIZABETH McCARTHY — Megaphone
Don't be scared, Betty, that's absurd!
Use this megaphone and you'll be heard.

HELEN McGRAIL — Watch
Helen always stays out very late
When out with all her beaux
To help her part early from her date
This little wrist watch goes.

HENRY McGUANE — Budget Book
Free with his money to those who need air,
May this budget book show him who's paid.

LOUISE McLAUGHLIN — Sign "Gunner"
Louise thinks her Junior is very fine
So today we give her this pretty little sign.

JANICE MONROE — Pencil
Janice is smart, we all agree
The perfect secretary she's bound to be.

DOROTHY MORGAN — Magazine "American Home"
To be a housewife Dot does prefer
So this magazine we give to her.

HARRY MORGAN — Tire
Because bicycle tires are hard to get
We're sure this gift he won't regret.

RITA MURRAY — Baker
When for a husband you are looking
Get one who can do your cooking.

HARRY NICKERSON — (Mad) Hat
In Hollywood if you can act,
An Oscar goes to you.
But instead we give you this
In hopes that it will do.

NORMA NICKERSON — Passport
Today a passport's hard to get
But we have one for you
We hope it gets you safely home
But to Whitman you'll be true.

LILLIAN PACKARD — Curler
There's nothing like starting at the top,
Here's a curler to open your beauty shop.

MARIE PAUL — Bug
For bugs Marie has affection.
Here's one for your collection.

GLADYS PETERSON — Hook
When fishing in the stream for dates,
Hooks are useless without "Bates."

VERNE PORTER — Pillow
Since Verne is such a sleepy fellow
We give to him this little pillow.

GERALD REED — Compass
An A student is Gerald Reed,
For figuring angles this compass he'll need.

MARY RENSHAW — Wings
A pair of wings from Ken to Mary
In joining him she will not tarry.

ADELA RYMUT — Ticket
The Roseland dance floor is the spot
So for Adela this ticket we've bought.

EDITH SAYCE — Record
Edith collects records stack on stack
We hope our donation is one she may lack.

MARTHA SCHATZL — Violin String
To Martha we give this violin string
We know her music is just the thing.

ARNOLD SEAMANS — Ruler
Algebra, geometry, solid and trig—
These to Arnold are a cinch,
So we give to him this ruler
To use if he's ever in a pinch.

ELEANOR SEEGER — Bottle of Pills
Because Eleanor wants to be a nurse
We give to her this box of pills
To give to her patients to cure all their ills.

ERNEST SMITH — Drum
To make a bigger noise, here's a little drum
As an ideal gift, may it give you lots of fun.

DELMA STODDAR — Soldier
There's something about a soldier
How well does Delma know
And since He's in the army now
Life is oh! so slow.

WILLIAM SWEENEY — Gun
Bill is so fond of hunting
We've bought for him this little gun.
To see if he can get a "dear"
Before the day is done.

ALICE TAYLOR — Marriage License
To Alice we give this license to wed,
In hopes that the words "I do" soon will be said.

PRISCILLA THOMAS — Red Shorts
Priscilla is very fond of sports
Her favorite dress is a pair of shorts.

ADELAIDE TIRRELL — Copy of "Stage"
Lee's acting ability is all the rage
To help her go farther is this copy of "Stage."

KATHLEEN TREPTOW — Face Cream
To Kay for whom we have such feeling,
We give this face cream to make her more appealing.

MARTIN TUFANKJIAN — Saw
Martin is so very tall,
Maybe this will make him small.

HELEN WALO — Compass
Helen is a Mariner who surely loves the sea,
This compass will guide her wherever she may be.

ALBERT WIRZBURGER — Fireman Hat
Albie is a fireman so very brave,
He plunges through the smoke and flame
People for to save.

DORIS WOODS — Flash of Lightning
Did you see that lightning flash?
It must have been Doris rushing past.

JOHN ZOOBKOOF — Tractor
Because Johnnie is a farmer boy
This tractor may be his pride and joy.

Second Row: Mr. McKey, Lee Crossman, Harold Dodge, Henry Huddleston, Richard Peterson, George Perry, Cesare Gentile.

Third Row: Winifred Higgins, Carol Tucker, Marjorie Singleton, Muriel Linn, Marjorie Holland, Dorothy Brittain, Ruth Harrington.

Photography Club

The fall of 1941 marked the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Photography Club. Although the exodus of last year's seniors greatly depleted its ranks, it has carried on its activities this year with a group of inexperienced but enthusiastc recruits, who have made great strides in learning photographic darkroom technique.

A series of classes on the general subject of "Good Pictures; How to Take and Finish Them" was given throughout the year by the adviser.

Although no Parents' Night exhibition was held this year, the club followed the custom started last year at the suggestion of Miss Holbrook, town librarian, of holding an exhibit on the upper floor the library during the week of May 3.

New members from the lower classes were taken into the club in April so that they might be prepared to carry on next year's work.

These officers have ably served the club during the current year:

President .....Emily Brittain
Vice-President .....Charles Carlson
Treasurer .....Marion Power
Secretary .....Doris Fuller

Third Row: June Ladouceur, Nancy Altman, Jean Harper, Lois Thomas, Jean Walkey, Marie Paul.

Literary Club

On October 8, 1942, the Literary Club, under the supervision of its adviser, Miss Kenealy, began a most successful and active year by electing the following officers:

Adelaide Tirrell ..... President
Marie La Frenière ..... Vice-President
Mary Renshaw ..... Treasurer
Adela Rymut ..... Secretary
Gloria Harrington..... Program Chairman

In March, the Club gave a tea and entertainment for the members of the Reading Club of the Women's Club.

In April, a tea and entertainment was given for the members of the school faculty.

During the year, books were read and reported on. The Club enjoyed a most successful year with many thanks due its adviser and officers.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY CAST
First Row: (left to right) Miss Smalley, Gertrude Croke, Rosalie Kirby, Rita Murray, Adelaide Tirrell, Jean Harper, June Ladouceur, Nancy Altman.
Second Row: June Gegenheimer, Robert Crosby, Harry Nickerson, David King, Roy Littlehale, Henry McGuane, Adela Rymut.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY
"THE MAD HATTERS"

On December 17, 1941, the Senior Class presented its annual play at the Whitman Town Hall before an appreciative audience.

The cast enjoyed working together, and proved very capable under the careful supervision of the coach, Miss Smalley, and the prompter, Adela Rymut.

"The Mad Hatters" is the story of a family, all as mad as March hares. Grandma Hatter (June Ladouceur) has been supporting them for years and finally decides that they should earn their own livings. She gives them all three months to prove whether or not they can do this, with the agreement that if they succeed she will renew their monthly allowance. They all decide to commercialize on their hobbies. Joe Hatter (Roy Littlehale) attempts to write stories for fishing magazines; his wife, Margaret Hatter (Rosalie Kirby), produces a play with the aid of her daughter, Diana (Jean Harper), and the latter's boyfriend, Henry (Robert Crosby), who is a playwright. Margaret's daughter Gigi (Rita Murray) determines to enter a swimming race under the supervision of her instructor, Mugsy (Harry Nickerson). Bunny, the son (David King), enters a photography contest and uses for subject matter, primarily, one of his mother's protégés, Nancy (Nancy Altman). Throughout the play, Angelica, the housekeeper (Adelaide Tirrell), provides many a laugh with her actions and opinions. Things happen fast and furiously, and toward the end of the play, Diana is offered a movie contract by Miss Sheldon, a talent scout (June Gegenheimer). Then, last but not least, Joe Hatter "brings home the bacon" to the great delight of all, and the complications of the plot are straightened out to everyone's satisfaction.

DRAMATIC CLUB

Second Row: Miss Tinker, Roy Littlehale, David King, Harry Nickerson, Alan Hamel, Richard Vaughan, Kenneth Holmes, George Perry, Edwin Thurston, Lee Crossman, Milton Cook, Miss Wood.

Third Row: June Gegenheimer, Gertrude Croke, Esther Robbins, Catherine Welsh, Kathleen Treptow, Rita Murray, Beverly Blanchard, Margaret Minnehan, Beverly Smith, Marie LaFreniere, Doris Fuller, Phyllis Shea, Lois Thomas.

Senior-Junior Dramatic Club

The Senior-Junior Dramatic Club enjoyed an active year under the supervision of its advisers, Miss Tinker and Miss Wood, and its officers:

Mary Carey .....President
Gloria Harrington .....Vice-President
Adela Rymut .....Secretary
Gerald Burbine .....Treasurer

The first social of the year, consisting of two plays, was ably presented by the members in November, 1941. Later in the year, a Christmas play was given to the members of the Women's Club. At the last social, held on May 13, 1942, two plays, "Medicine Preferred" and "Lights Out," were given before a large audience of members and friends.

Throughout the year meetings were held and members were appointed to act on various committees.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL
First Row: (left to right) Josephine Burns, Francis Chiros, Burton Smith, Hugh Cox.
Second Row: Mr. Lane, Harold Hathaway, Robert Brennan, Mary White, Miss Kenealy.

Athletic Council

The affairs of the Whitman High School Athletic Association are ably taken care of by a staff known as the Athletic Council. Besides the regular officers, president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, there are representatives from the three upper classes. These representatives are elected annually by the members of the Athletic Association. At the same time members elect a faculty adviser. This year, as last year, the adviser was Miss Kenealy. Mr. Lane, because of his connection with the athletic department, is also included in this group.

The Council has the duty of selecting the members of the athletic teams who are eligible for letters. It carries on all the business of the Athletic Association.

Class Advisers

We wish to thank our advisers, Miss Reynolds and Mr. Magnuson, for their help and cooperation throughout our years in high school.

Boys' Athletics

VARSITY FOOTBALL

For the first time in seventeen years, the football candidates were called out at Whitman High School under the direction of a new coach, as Joseph Canavan, newly appointed gridiron boss, looked over thirty-five candidates, with the assistance of our own Russell Meinhold.

Following a month of good hard drilling, the team appeared to be in top shape and ready for its first opponents, Mansfield. Whitman proved to be the more powerful club by upsetting Mansfield by a score of 24 to 6. The line especially, showed plenty of power by opening up large holes for the backfield.

The following week Whitman beat Bridgewater 39 to 0. Whitman's next opponent was Hingham, who was trimmed by a score of 16 to 0 as Whitman's passing attack began to click.

The following week, Whitman traveled to Milton, where the fourth victory was annexed by a score of 19 to 2. Everything was fast turf for our team until its spotless record was splashed with mud from Lincoln Field by Plymouth, who rose from the sea of muck the winner by a score of 20 to 0.

Whitman's next rival was North Quincy, who defeated her by a score of 14 to 0. During the entire game the Whitman Team, although heavily outclassed and outweighed, fought staunchly.

Whitman then marched to Coyle, where Lady Luck remained on the opponent's side. At times it was brightened by Sweeney's brilliant running. To add to Whitman's defeat, her Captain, Dick Brine, was taken out of the game because of a torn cartilage.

The final game, staged on Thanksgiving Day in Abington, was another defeat for Whitman. During the entire game Whitman was unable to organize and brace up, and the result was Abington 14, Whitman 0.

On December 3, 1941, the senior class at the Whitman High School staged its annual banquet for the football squad and the coaches and other invited guests. The newly elected co-captains were announced as Walter Mackiewicz and Burton Smith. We certainly wish them a successful year for 1942-1943.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The team consisted of the following: Ralph Bolinder, right forward; Francis Chiros, Bernard Hayes, left forwards; Willie White and Burton Smith, centers; Walter Mackiewicz and Dick Brine, right guards; and Bob Harrington, left guard. Although there was no definite schedule because this was the first year for varsity basketball and time was not permitted to obtain a full schedule, Whitman did play other teams.

Because of the small schedule, Coach Canavan's boys were unable to compete in the Y. M. C. A. tournament.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Forty boys reported to play intramural basketball. As in previous years the captains were picked by the coach; captains, however, picked their teammates.

Milton Cook's Yale team and Ralph Bolinder's Dartmouth team tied for first place. The Yale team defeated Dartmouth by a score of 4 to 0.

The Juniors defeated the Sophomores and the Seniors to become class champions.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

The intramural team to win the tourney was Navy, lead to victory by Chickie MacDonald and Stevie Milonas.

GYM TEAM

A large crowd filled the gymnasium to witness the annual Gym Exhibition held on March 20, 1942. Five prizes were awarded: First, William Sweeney; Second, Francis Chiros; Third, Paul Plasse; Fourth, Harold Green; and Fifth, Bob Millett.

VARSITY BASEBALL

Only twenty boys signed up for baseball this spring, six of whom were lettermen last year; Bill Sweeney, Francis Chiros, Dick Brine, Ralph Bolinder, and Robert Ibbitson. The opening date for the baseball varsity is May 1, when a game will be played with East Bridgewater.

Since several baseball games will take place after the yearbook goes to press, we regret that the athletic program cannot be completed accurately.

Girls' Athletics

This year has been one of the most enjoyable years we have spent in participation of sports in Whitman High School.

In the latter part of October, five speedball teams were formed. The main reason for this vigorous sport was to enable the girls to get in trim for the basketball season ahead. Many exciting games were played.

The girls who were interested in playing intramural basketball reported in the gym in November for the formation of teams. Teams and captains were:

All Stars.....Phyllis Hall
Sag's Sluggers.. .....Betty Saganetti
Hoosier Hot Shots.....Eleanor Bearce
Mop House Gang.....Norma Bradshaw
Hep Kats.....Beatrice Barry

After the tourney had begun, the teams gave fine exhibitions of real basketball. The Hoosier Hot Shots was the winner. On the team were Captain Eleanor Bearce, Grace Kenneally, Priscilla Thomas, Mary Miller, Barbara Merrow, Francis Deehan, and Claire Treptow.

In December, twenty-five girls were chosen from a large group for the varsity squad. Those chosen were as follows: Eleanor Bearce, Captain, Grace Kenneally, Rita Murray, Norma Bradshaw, Beatrice Barry, Eunice Drake, and Priscilla Thomas; second team was: Phyllis Hall, Captain, Betty Saganetti, Marie Ruel, Ruth Basler, Kay Welch, Barbara Merrow, Annie Gianunzio, Jean Miller, Harriet Kelley, Pauline Brine, Eunice Brine, Frances Sprague, Mary Randall, Claire Treptow, and Mary Jane Miller.

The manager was Jane Holbrook, who did an excellent job of managing the team with the able assistance of Cynthia Wladkowski.

The schedule and scores were as follows:

Whitman 5.....Middleboro 13
Whitman 18.....Rockland 26

Although the girls did not win many games, they did have a great deal of fun. In an assembly, senior girls on the varsity were awarded their varsity letters. The girls receiving their letters were as follows: Captain Eleanor Bearce, Priscilla Thomas, Rita Murray, Norma Bradshaw, Eunice Drake, and Beatrice Barry.

During the latter part of the basketball season, candidates for the annual gym team began their practice under the direction of Miss Tate. This exhibition was one of the finest ever given at Whitman High. Prizes were awarded to the winners: First, Dorothy Pennini; Second, Annie Gianunzio; Third, Ruth Basler; Fourth, Ruth Irish; and Fifth, Grace Kenneally.

A week later, class teams and captains were chosen as follows:

Freshman .....Ruth Basler
Sophomore .....Harriet Kelley
Junior .....Betty Saganetti
Senior .....Eleanor Bearce

The Sophomores were defeated by a score of 10 to 5, the Seniors topped the Juniors with a score of 22 to 7, and the Seniors also won from the Freshmen by a 29 to 1 score.

The Senior girls awarded their numerals for playing one half their class game were: Rita Murray, Eunice Drake, Beatrice Barry, Priscilla Thomas, and Eleanor Bearce.

In the latter part of March, the girls eagerly awaited the call to tennis, softball, and badminton. By the first week in April, the games were well on their way.

In conclusion, we wish our successors an athletic program as enjoyable as the one we have just completed.

Because this publication went to press before the season had finished, we regret we cannot give a complete record of spring sports.
